Welcome!

Noticed a difference? YLLBB has evolved into something bigger, more colourful and embracing all of Surrey. But we've kept our local focus.

Our original vision was to establish a printed directory to highlight local businesses. In response to our growing audience and the needs of our customers, this has evolved into The Surrey Circle – a multimedia community hub for the whole of Surrey.

We aim to offer the perfect local marketing solution, bringing local businesses and local customers together across print, online and social media platforms. Our online offering has expanded to include our new Shopping Hub, the go-to place to browse local shelves.

Our reach has expanded too: having established our presence in Reigate & Dorking, we're spreading our wings to include all businesses across Surrey. But our emphasis on keeping things local remains, as does our commitment to customer service.

Thank you for your support and to those who have only just discovered The Surrey Circle, delve in and explore what's on your doorstep! Take a look at our website: TheSurreyCircle.co.uk and Sign-Up FREE so we can keep you in the loop of what's happening in your town and beyond. Happy browsing!

ARE YOU SURE YOU'RE INSURED?

Make sure your policy is right for you with the help of the experts

When choosing home insurance, more often than not we go for the quickest or cheapest option, perhaps not totally confident but hoping for the best. Whilst this approach might seem like the most convenient at renewal, there's a risk of rushing and not considering the quality of cover on offer or the actual value of our possessions, assuming an 'off-the-shelf' product will provide adequate protection.

In reality, insurance is far from a one-size fits all scenario. Tracey Rooke, Private Client Executive at NFU Mutual Henfield and Chichester Agency explains more.

"Estimating the value of our homes and contents isn't something we do regularly, and when time is precious, it can be easy to forget or dismiss things. But inaccurately calculating the rebuild cost or the total value of your contents could leave you open to the risk of being underinsured or unable to access the appropriate specialists, and unfortunately, most don't realise this until they come to make a claim."

To be 'underinsured' means that the amount you're covered for is less than the cost of rebuilding, replacing, or repairing. For example, if you had a fire at your home and the value of your contents is stated at £70,000, but the actual cost to replace your contents is £150,000, then you're underinsured, and the reality is your policy won't pay more than £70,000, leaving you to pick up the shortfall.

It's particularly important that those who live in larger, higher value homes or have many expensive items – perhaps jewellery and watches, fine art or collections, or even designer interiors and tech – are mindful that standard insurance may not fully protect them or include features such as agreed values and access to specialist repair/replacement services.

So how can you avoid underinsurance?

Tracey Rooke shares some tips:

- Go through each room and account for anything you would need to replace in event of a claim – include things like soft furnishings, curtains and furniture, as well as the more obvious high-value items like technology.
- Estimate the cost as if you had to buy new, rather than the price you paid
- Consider whether the value has changed for any items such as antiques or art collections
- Don't forget items in storage, in a safe or at the bank
- Check your policy for any set limits for valuables and single items such as jewellery
- Review your cover regularly and if you're unsure, talk things through with a professional.

To find out more about NFU Mutual and our Bespoke home insurance for high-value homes and contents, contact – Tracey Rooke, Private Client Executive, Henfield and Chichester Agency on 01273 492239 or email tracey_rooke2@nfumutual.co.uk

THE PERSONAL TOUCH

A visit to Jon Dibben's shop and workshop seems less about a purchase, and more about a uniquely personal experience.

Recognised in the UK jewellery world and one of the first workshops to use Fairtrade gold, Jon and his small team at Smithbrook Kilns, near Cranleigh, have been handcrafting his distinctive designs for over thirty years. But, behind the accolades, they are also very down-to-earth, friendly people.

Walking into their shop is like being welcomed into a comfortable living room, apart from being immediately surrounded by cases of glinting treasure - each piece having come from the intriguing workshop next door.

'I love beautiful gemstones,' says Jon. 'In fact I'm a bit of a hoarder. But it also means our customers can look through them for inspiration.'

Talking to the team, what comes across, along with the combined decades of knowledge and expertise, is an obvious passion for jewellery, and genuine, painstaking care, both within the making process and in helping customers to navigate their hopes and ideas.

How Can I Help You

By Therapeutic Coach & Mentor
VIDYA BELLUR FROM VIVID OUTCOMES

What a year it's been, and it still may feel a work in progress for lots of us, just to recalibrate where we are at, and find a rhythm as we try to step out of the pandemic.

Redefining what 'freedom' looks and feels like to each of us, all in the back drop of an understanding that much of the world is experiencing challenges of its own, may make our own personal concerns and worries appear and feel insignificant.

That said, each of us are living our own lives, with our own unique set of circumstances, with our own specific challenges. In life we can experience joy, happiness, and fulfilment with the good times, but equally the pendulum can swing, where we can experience sadness, grief and upset with the not so good times. I consider it both my purpose and my privilege as a Therapeutic Coach and Mentor, to help people to find an equilibrium that enables them to endure and balance these highs and the lows in a different way - empowering them to work on their self esteem, stress and anxiety levels, and sort out those unhelpful habits that may have arisen as a result. As I always say, "I'm in the business of human beings!". In my practice, I see children, teens and adults.

Typically I see adults who are:

- Dealing with anxiety, stress and burnout and want support to handle life differently
- Committed to resolving their unhelpful habits and patterns of behaviour
- Looking to positively manage the impacts of life changes on themselves and their families
- Wanting to prioritise themselves and move forward with their goals and aspirations

Typically I see children/teens who are:

- Worried about going to school/college/university and don't know what to do with those feelings
- Stressed and anxious about their exams, and want to find ways to perform without feeling that way
- Concerned about friendships, and unsure of navigating them securely without confrontation or loss
- Emotional about something that they want to resolve but unsure how to

Available to listen to is my podcast: Choices-by Vidya Bellur (available on all major audio platforms). In the latest series I discuss topics that arise regularly when I meet with client in my practice: self-reliance, the nature of habits, self-expression, indecision, authenticity, the body-mind, perseverance, anger, self-worth, connection, grief. Listening to these, gives you a flavour of my approach that my clients have found to be invaluable.

I offer individual and familial therapeutic coaching and mentoring programmes tailored to you and your needs:

Child Spotlight, Grown-Up Spotlight, Parental Focus, Family Harmony.

Whenever you are ready to find calm, clarity, perspective, and happiness, I'm here to listen and be of service.

I saw Vidya to get some help with some bad habits I have had since I was a teenager. I was hesitant to start with as I thought these habits were so ingrained there was little I could do to change them and I was reluctant to talk about them with someone I didn't know. From the very beginning Vidya made me feel at ease and by the end of the first session I could already feel a shift in my patterns of thinking. It is not an overstatement to say after five sessions my outlook has completely changed and the old habits are just not there. Vidya is intelligent, insightful and kind. If you are thinking about working with her to help you change I cannot recommend it enough. (Client S, Reigate)

My daughter's anxiety was so severe it was causing her to miss school and she was unable to take part in clubs and social activities. My husband and I couldn't agree how best to help her and this was causing tension in the family. Vidya was able to connect and build trust with my daughter from day one. Following the sessions her anxiety is greatly reduced. Vidya has given her strategies to use and has helped to build up her confidence and self-esteem. Likewise, Vidya has empowered me too, in ways I can offer support. Vidya is a truly warm, compassionate and gifted professional, who has made a difference to all our lives and we will be forever grateful to her. (Parent T, Redhill)

I offer both individual and familial therapeutic coaching and mentoring services. Why not book a free 15 minute discovery call to find out how I can help you and your family to find calm, clarity, perspective and happiness.

Tomato Tea - For Me!

Surrey blogger Natalia Wolski shares with us her fine dining experience at Steve Drake's Michelin star restaurant Sorrel, Dorking.

Written by Natalia. Follow @shedreamsofgucci

Sorrel restaurant in Dorking, opened in 2018, by the über-talented Steven Drake, formerly of Drakes in Ripley and holder of a coveted Michelin star there for 14 years, wasted no time with Sorrel, gaining a Michelin star here too within a year. We were lucky enough last month to sample.

An absolute corker of a 9-course tasting menu, with perfect wine accompaniments from the delightful sommelier Valentin and thoughtful and detailed insights by our engaging but unobtrusive waitress.

Sorrel has quickly become a culinary destination and with good reason, every dish was exceptional. Spectacularly presented, complex, intense and utterly inspired, each plate is varied and well balanced, upping the ante with every course before reaching a crescendo around course 7! Special mention must go to the tomato tea though possibly the greatest surprise and a time consuming and painstaking process behind it. Don't be fooled by the minimal presentation, it's like walking into a greenhouse full of ripe tomatoes in a taste explosion!

Steve Drake has created a menu that truly surprises, with some inspiring combinations, faultless. If you're a foodie, it's an absolute must. With locally sourced ingredients and even wine (they use the local wine merchant in Dorking wherever possible and have a variety of locally produced wines), it really is no surprise that this 40-seat restaurant has people crossing the country and queuing up to sample Drake's innovative and adventurous creations.
