Welcome!

Bringing you an abundance of Reigate & Dorking's hidden gems, local essentials and hot spots to enjoy through the seasons.

We are thrilled to bring you the 2022 edition of the Local Black Book, connecting you with your local businesses and sharing the latest of what's on your doorstep.

It's wonderful to see people rekindling their love for getting out and about again, browsing the boutiques, coffee with friends, dining out and parties!

As you turn the pages, we remind you of businesses you are familiar with and welcome some fabulous new ones too, can you spot them? On page 38 we hope to tantalise your tastebuds with a selection of local Food & Drink offerings and if that's not enough see page 32 to get inspired by our Shopping Hub must haves. We hope this encourages you to visit them both on foot and online and keep supporting local in every way.

As we expand and spread our wings into other areas of Surrey, each area will now receive one edition per year, making the Local Black Book even more special!

A handy keepsake treasure that stays in your home, ready for whenever you need it. Enjoy discovering all the businesses inside, whether you are looking for an electrician or a new hairdo, you will find it here!

The race for space!

With offices in Reigate, Dorking, Horley, Oxted and a new high street office in Leatherhead we are able to give an overview which is fairly indicative of the Surrey region.

The ripple effect of the pandemic created a surge in the market which was quite unexpected. Pent up demand from the previous Brexit years was accelerated by the race for space.

Fast-forward to 2022 and buyer and seller confidence doesn't seem to have been adversely affected by the first base rate rise in more than three years.

The number of new buyers registering hasn't curtailed much since the end of lock-down one. Such a significant societal event means that people are still continuing to re-consider their priorities, such as where they want to live and work.

What has changed over the last two years is the availability of new stock. With sustained demand and a lack of properties we have experienced a rise in asking prices.

Our advice, for buyers, ensure you are in the best position possible. If you have a house to sell, having your property under offer before putting in an offer, makes your position more attractive. For a seller, most new properties are selling quickly, which makes it a great time to come to market.

Signs your loved one may need care

For most of us, there will come a time when our loved one or family member requires care. It is often a difficult and daunting time, however, when the warning signs are spotted earlier, early prevention measures can be put in place to support your loved one to remain living in the comfort of their own home for as long as possible. Here are the common signs that may indicate time to consider care.

They are struggling to maintain their personal hygiene

A change in appearance or body odour may be a sign that your loved one needs support with their personal care. There are different reasons why someone may be struggling to maintain their usual personal hygiene standards; they no longer have the physical capabilities; their mental health issues are impacting their personal care routine, or they have simply forgotten to wash and clean themselves daily.

Changes in their weight

If there is a 10% difference or more in body weight, this can be a sign that there is a problem. They may not be eating enough and losing weight as a result. This could be caused by difficulty preparing meals, feelings of loneliness or isolation impacting their appetite or forgetting to eat at mealtimes. Visiting them during mealtimes will give you a good indication of their eating habits.

Physical and mental changes

Physical changes can include bruises or bumps from falls, weight changes, changes in personal hygiene or all the above. Whilst mental changes can include mood swings, withdrawal from social situations, or displaying new behaviours that seem out of character. Mental health problems can be experienced by people of all ages, so it is important to check in with your loved ones regularly to understand how they are feeling.

• They are no longer able to perform daily tasks

Another key sign that your loved one may need care is that they are unable to carry out daily tasks. You might notice that their house is becoming very untidy. If they struggle with things such as making a cup of tea, showering, getting dressed or preparing meals, they could benefit from the support of a homecare plan.

• Memory loss

Memory loss is typically associated with dementia. Although it can be a symptom of dementia, that is not always the case. If you are worried your loved one has dementia, it is best to seek advice from your GP. When treated early, people that are living with dementia can be supported to maintain their independence for longer.

Who is most likely to need care?

As adults age, it is more likely that they may need some additional support. Older adults may require help with day-to-day tasks, or they may need some companionship and a friendly face to share a cuppa.

Having the care conversation

Having a conversation with your loved one about care can be daunting, but it is important that you speak openly so you can discuss the options available together.

What type of care services are there?

There are lots of different types of care services. The level of care that is required will depend on the individual needs of your loved one. Typically, when the signs that someone needs care are identified early on, people can be supported to remain in their own homes with the help of quality homecare services.

At Right at Home Reigate and Crawley our services cover but are not limited to:

- Personal Care
- Companionship & Support
- Dementia Care
- Elderly Care
- Live-In Care
- Respite Care
- Hospital to Home Care

How can we help you or your loved one?

Our team at Right at Home Reigate and Crawley can support you and your loved one to develop a unique and personalised care plan that meets their needs and supports them to live a fulfilled life from the comfort of their own home. Our team can visit at home from as little as one hour to 24 hours a day, all dependent on your wishes.

If you think your loved one may need support or for more information on our homecare services, please contact a member of our friendly team.

Staying true to yourself

By Therapeutic Coach & Mentor
VIDYA BELLUR FROM VIVID OUTCOMES

Hopefully through previous editions you are getting to know me a little now. I am back to share my thoughts with you again, which I hope you find both resonant and helpful.

Just as we begin to step out of the pandemic, it's hard to ignore the fact that we are heading towards yet more global, political and economic uncertainties, which invariably are going to affect us all personally in some way - some more than others.

But yet again, it's a sobering reminder for the simple fact that life doesn't go according to plan - the way we expect it to. Sometimes I wonder if that is what exacerbates the perceived problems we must face - we are always expecting, always striving, always living in the future, or wishing for a different past or embody an impatience and restlessness for things to be different right now. Somehow in the process of all that unease, we tend to forget that in order for things to be different we have to accept exactly where we are and who we appear to be at this exact point we find ourselves. At such times, acceptance, and kindness for ourselves seem to go astray - actually when we need it most. We desert ourselves often in our own need and then turn around and wonder why the world around us feels harsh, lonely or unkind at times. What do I mean by that?

Perhaps you...

- don't trust your instincts and place your decisions in the hands of others, believing yourself to be ill placed in making a 'good' decision?
- are a people pleaser - seeking that validation from others as opposed to yourself and neglect your own needs in the process?
- are constantly striving for some high and unrealistic notions of perfection that you may have for yourself?
- push uncomfortable feelings away either through avoiding them with distraction or perhaps using substances, drugs, alcohol, food or social media to numb your association to the discomfort - a kind of 'checking out' of 'real' life?

- constantly criticise, judge and undermine your own efforts, value or self worth because you don't meet your own high standards?

If you recognise any of these, you will know that living this way is a constant challenge, with feeling compromised a lot of the time and generally uncomfortable with many situations, which makes for an anxious and stressful existence. I want you to know that help is on hand with me. As a Therapeutic Coach and Mentor, I have helped literally hundreds of children, teens and adults, to foster and nurture a different understanding of themselves. I've worked alongside them to empower them to curb their greatest 'bad habit' of all - self abandonment.

If you, or anyone in your family would like to invest in my help and support, I offer a FREE 15 minute discovery call to help you find out how the tailored individual and familial therapeutic coaching and mentoring programmes I offer, can help you:

Child Spotlight, Grown-Up Spotlight, Parental Focus, Family Harmony.

Opening our eyes to her true self has been truly enlightening and positive. You have set us on a road to discovery and recovery! It's not always easy but we are so much clearer on our understanding than we've ever been. For that I can't thank you enough!
Parent to 8-year-old (Reigate)

Whenever you are ready to find calm, clarity, perspective and happiness, I'm here to listen and be of service.

Hearty & Homemade

Nestled in the heart of Dorking, husband-and-wife team Basil and Susan have been serving breakfast, lunch and afternoon teas with a smile since 2016.

This is a rather special café with a historian twist, celebrating history in the ancestral home of William Mullins, one of North America's Pilgrim Fathers, the coffee shop sits within an iconic building in the heart of the old quarter of Dorking on West Street.

There is no better place to experience the comfort of home-to-home dining, and if you suffer from a sweet tooth, their traditional home baked cakes and scones can be enjoyed with a cup of Mullins' specially blended, freshly ground coffee or a pot of tea.

They have also captured the Mullins story through their cakes and cookies box collection. Susan found the love for baking as a child, and it is this traditional baking style which has really come to life at Mullins.

Using her top-secret recipe, their famous Ginger cake, Date & Walnut Cake and Tahini Cookies are now flying off the shelves! Packed in a beautiful Mayflower gift box, with the Pilgrim, William Mullins story printed inside. It makes a special gift or simply spoil yourself with your favourite!

Mullins cakes, cookies, cups & saucers and special blended coffee ground or beans all available to be purchased online and shipped all over the world!

Sociable & Spacious

Reigate's first luxe coworking space, set up by renowned hair stylist & business coach Jo Irving.

The space is beautifully designed to feel calm & peaceful, perfect for anyone looking to work away from home in a creative environment but not looking to commit to a dull office rental.

You can rent an individual or shared desk space by the day or in 3 hour slots.

We also have a light filled room with a desk, seating up to 8 which is available to rent by the day and perfect for client meetings, team meetings, workshops and courses.

A range of coffees and refreshments are included in your hire fee and you are free to bring your own lunch or let us organise that for you.

The main room holds 15+ seated or 30+ if standing and can be hired for events, product launches, workshops & classes.

This gorgeous space tucked away from the high street is also home to Lovehair & Co, a beautifully chic hair salon with a Blow Dry Bar open on Friday evenings - Ideal if you are heading into Reigate for a night out!

RACHEL THORNHILL

CORPORATE & BRAND PHOTOGRAPHY

Why use stock images when you can use bespoke photography to build trust with your potential customers from their very first contact with you?

You and your team are your Company's best assets, so with your ideal client in mind, we create a series of images that tell your story and help you connect with your target audience. Together we create images that help build positive relationships across all of your marketing collateral; your website, social media and print materials, strengthening your brand and helping your company to stand out in a crowd.

My name is Rachel Thornhill and I'm a Professional Portrait Photographer. I specialise in capturing beautiful portraits of people, which my Business Clients have gone on to use for their websites, social media and on business specific platforms such as LinkedIn.

To give you an idea of what we can achieve together, here is what a few of my Clients have to say...

"What an enjoyable afternoon... professional yet fun with plenty of genuine smiles! Rachel captured what we were aiming for perfectly"

Lisa & Alison
www.thesurreycircle.co.uk

"It's always a pleasure working with Rachel, she's energetic and puts us all at ease, which shows in the beautiful photographs"

Sarahjayne Matthew
www.islandhouseReigate.co.uk

"Rachel really had a great understanding of our business and captured many amazing, detailed pictures highly recommended"
