Welcome!

We are so excited to introduce you to the Local Black Book, a keepsake directory for you to place in that handy spot in your home and refer back to when you need it.

Let us introduce ourselves, we are Lisa and Alison, Alison on the left and Lisa on the right, two mums living and working in Surrey.

The Surrey Circle was born from our shared passion for supporting and discovering local businesses and love nothing more than sharing them with you too. We created a platform for businesses on and off the high street to have a spotlight and be able to communicate and feel connected with their local customers.

We are delighted to have expanded our reach and deliver the Local Black Book to your community. As you turn the pages, let us remind you of those businesses you recognise, help you find new ones and inspire you to keep supporting and using all the vibrant businesses around you.

So without further ado, sit back, relax and enjoy browsing!

THE PERSONAL TOUCH

A visit to Jon Dibben's shop and workshop feels less about a purchase, and more about a uniquely personal experience.

Recognised in the UK jewellery world, and one of the first workshops to use Fairtrade gold, Jon and his small team at Smithbrook Kilns, near Cranleigh, have been handcrafting his distinctive designs for over thirty years.

They are also very down-to-earth, friendly people. Behind their combined decades of knowledge and expertise, is an obvious passion, and genuine, painstaking care, in the making process, and in helping customers to navigate their hopes and ideas.

To make an appointment to discuss or browse please get in touch.
